The International Centre for Pension Management (ICPM) was founded in 2005 to bring together an influential community of pension industry professionals to share knowledge. Today, ICPM is a network of leading pension organizations from around the world that collectively manage more than US$3 trillion in assets.

ICPM organizes interactive Discussion Forums involving pension professionals and researchers. It provides funding for objective and transformative research to support effective management and innovation in pension organizations. ICPM also offers highly-respected pension board education programs for board members of pension and long-horizon investment institutions from around the globe.

What makes ICPM unique?

- An exceptional global network for senior leaders and pension professionals
- Opportunities to exchange ideas with peers in a safe and non-commercial setting
- A convenient hub for learning about global best practices and new thinking
- Access to leading-edge research on pension design, investment and risk management, and governance practices
- A forum to stimulate academic talent globally to produce transformational and relevant research

“We need to ensure that the business strategy is resilient and is going to anticipate where the investment strategy is going to go in the long-term. The ICPM Discussion Forums allow us to discuss with peers, to understand what they’re thinking about, and to ensure our business is ready to meet those same challenges.”

Sarah Owen | General Manager Corporate Strategy and General Counsel, NZ Super Fund (New Zealand)

“We see value in becoming a Research Partner of ICPM. First, we are able to network with pension funds from all over the world, and to share experiences and best practices. Second, becoming a Research Partner allows us to be on the frontier of research relevant to pension funds.”

Fernando Larrain | CEO, AAFP Chile (Chile)

An important resource for pension organizations worldwide

ICPM offers:

- Cutting-edge global applied industry and academic research: Case studies and collation of best practices on pension management and long-horizon investing; opportunities for pension funds and pension research entities to collaborate and stimulate new thinking.
- Member-only Discussion Forums: Held semi-annually in different parts of the world, Forums provide a collegial setting for exchange of ideas among senior executives in the ICPM network and other distinguished pension and investment practitioners; critical pension issues are addressed by leading authorities from academia, the global pension sector, and policy-making circles.
- Pension Board Education: Unique global governance programs designed exclusively for pension fund board members addressing an effective board’s role in key areas including articulating organizational mission, exercising fiduciary duty, governing investments, managing risk, and appropriately incentivizing management.
- A global voice: Providing input and expertise on emerging debates related to pension design, long-horizon investing, and ways to align incentives of all stakeholders in a pension fund.
